Prof. Leonhardt Webber, in his atmospheric experiments with kites and balloons, has found that the atmosphere is negatively electrified up to a height of about 100 yards beyond which it is positively electrified in a degree increasing very rapidly with the distance from the earth. The negative electrification of the lower strata of the air is attributed to the presence of germs world are to be seen. The Wilderness of Koolan, as the district is called, contains a Roolan, as the district is called, contains a forest of native wild apple trees, countless in number, stretching from the sea far up found in Brazil in 1741, and is now one of the mountain sides. The trees vary from the bountain sides. The trees vary from forty to fifty feet in height, and in the harvest senson, from July to September, are leaded down with fruit, some white but mostly red. A person standing in the midst of this orchard can look around him for miles, up the mountain and towards the road, and the only thing in view will be one vast grove of apple roes literally red with ripe and ripening fruit, the branches of the trees bending to the ground with the bounteous narvest. The crop of this extensive apple orchard which nature planted in the solitary waste would fill a fleet of 160 steamers. The orchard stretches over a country from ten to five miles wide by 100 steamers. The orchard stretches over a country from ten to five mines wide by twenty miles long, and many of the larger trees bear at least fifty barrels aplece. The fruit is delicious for table use and will appease both thirst and hunger, but as yet no one has taken the trouble to make any commercial use of the apples. When ripe they will not keep more than a week, but they make excellent jelly and jam, and simply for the lock of a little American enterprise millions of barrels of apples are permitted annually to fall to the ground and rot.

WONDERFUL GOLD.

Gold is so very tenacious that a piece of it drawn into wire one-twentieth of an inch at member will sustain a weight of 500 pounds without breaking. Its maileability is so great that a single grain may be distinctly seen by the naked eye. A grain and a half of gold may be beaten into leaves of one inch square, which if intersected by parallel ines drawn at right angles to each other and distant only the one-hundredth part of an inch, will produce 25,000,000 little squares, each of which may be distinctly seen without the ald of a giass.
